Pray

Gather around your family's Advent wreath and light the second purple candle, which represents HOPE.

In today's Gospel, John the Baptist is inviting people to repent and forgive in order to welcome Jesus. Many times we get excited to celebrate Christmas but forget that the season of Advent asks us to prepare our hearts. Ask Jesus in your own words to give you a hopeful heart in order to welcome Him to your home.

Talk

Here are some suggestions to help you prepare your heart and home this Advent:

For children: Ask them to suggest ways to decorate your home for Jesus during this Advent season.

For teens: How will you prepare your surroundings to welcome Jesus?

For Young Adults/Adults: What are some of ways you see that the world is not ready for the coming of Jesus? How can you make a difference in preparing the way to the Lord?

Family Challenge!

We're all busy getting our homes ready for Christmas! Can you think of 3 ways to get your heart ready to welcome Jesus?

THE NEED FOR CHANGE

He didn't look like them. He didn't talk like them. He was not part of the crowd that had always held power. Yet the people listened, and followed.

John the Baptist dressed in camels hair and had a leather belt. He didn't dress like the Scribes, Pharisees and Temple priests. He never was part of that crowd. But John the Baptist talked about change that was certainly coming. The thing is for that change to take place, it was the people who had to change. If there is going to be no more war, then people need to stop hating others. If there is going to be charity and care for all, then people needed to look inside their hearts and pull out the justice of God that resides there. If there is going to be change, then people needed to change.

That is the change we can believe in. "Prepare for the Lord," John the Baptist proclaims in the Gospel for this Second Sunday of Advent. Prepare for the Lord by preparing yourselves. And the people from throughout the Judean countryside and the inhabitants of Jerusalem went out to the Jordan River where John was preaching. And they confessed their sins. And they were baptised. And the change had begun.

Father in heaven, set our hearts ablaze to follow in the steps of John the Baptist. May we bring light and love to all we meet, that the darkness of sin and fear may be overcome. In Christ's name we ask this.

POINTING THE WAY TO JESUS

"Sadness is looking at ourselves, happiness is looking towards God."

John the Baptist pointed people to Jesus; he prepared the way for him. Carlo took every opportunity to point his friends and family to Jesus too. He knew Jesus was the source of true joy. Did you know his parents weren't even practicing Catholics, but that didn't stop him from building a solid relationship with God. Take some time to listen to this week's song, and in your heart, ask Jesus to come and be a part of your life.
